

Birmingham Business School rises in Global MBA rankings

The 2010 Financial Times Global MBA rankings has positioned Birmingham Business School's MBA at 75th in the world, 21st in Europe and 13th in the UK. This illustrates Birmingham's continued commitment to provide international management expertise across a range of business disciplines.

Head of School Professor David Dickinson said, "The School is very pleased with our ranking position. Through continued performance improvement we are committed to build on the quality of our MBA and for it to remain a leading global programme".'
